The Marie-Louise von Motesiczky Charitable Trust PhD Scholarship

The Courtauld Institute of Art and the Marie-Louise von Motesiczky Charitable Trust are pleased to announce a new PhD scholarship for full-time study.

Eligibility: The scholarship will be open to a student studying for a PhD on the subject of women artists (or a single woman artist) of any period in art history.

Candidates from any country are eligible.

Scholarship amount: The scholarship will be the sum of £28,890 per annum to cover the living costs and tuition fees for an overseas student, or the sum of £19,400 per annum to cover the living costs and tuition fees for a UK/EU student.

Scholarship period: Three academic years for a student starting a research degree in the academic year 2011/12 (Students whose PhDs are in progress at The Courtauld are also eligible to apply for this award for one or two years dependent on the year in which they commenced their PhD).

Award: The Marie-Louise von Motesiczky Charitable Trust Scholarship(s) will be awarded by The Courtauld Scholarship Committee on academic merit, with consideration given to the financial circumstances of the student.

To Apply: the application form can be found on The Courtauld's website : <http://www.courtauld.ac.uk/degreeprogrammes/postgraduate/research/fees.shtml>

Application deadline: June 5th 2011.
