

Arts – Politics – Economics, School of Arts, LMU Munich

Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München, Jul 31–Aug 6, 2011

Deadline: Jun 5, 2011

Miriam Drewes

International Summer School

Arts – Politics – Economics. New perspectives of the arts (31 July - 6th August, 2011)

Arts, politics and economics have always existed in a dynamic interdependent relationship, which is, in part, stimulating, and, in part, produces contradictions or even oppositions: The arts are integrated into political and economic functional relationships, but they also appear as political protagonists, whose aesthetic strategies - whether explicit or implicit - reflect societal events or provide guidelines for successful coexistence in society. The spectrum of theoretical debate in the study of the arts ranges from questions concerning the position of the political in the aesthetic and aesthetic forms of expression of the political, to those who devote themselves to the political role of art or discuss the relationship of art and economics.

The interdisciplinary summer school, which incorporates the subjects Art History, Art Education, Musicology, Music Education and Theatre Studies, aims to discuss the following aspects:

How does the political manifest itself in the arts against the background of its dissolution of boundaries and internationalisation?

To what institutional change are the arts subject in the light of (global) structural political and economic changes?

What role does the study of the arts play in this process?

We have 8 scholarships available for international students. These scholarships cover travel costs, accommodation and also provide a grant for your remaining living expenses.

For further information please visit our website: www.lmu.de/proart

Contact:

PhD Programme ProArt

Munich School of Arts

Zentnerstr. 31

80798 München

Tel.: 0049-(0)89-2180-6786

Email: proart@lrz.uni-muenchen.de

Reference:

CFP: Arts - Politics - Economics, School of Arts, LMU Munich. In: ArtHist.net, Apr 11, 2011 (accessed Apr 16, 2024), <<https://arthist.net/archive/1177>>.