

Fulbright-Terra Foundation Awards for Teaching and Research in China and Europe

Application deadline: Aug 1, 2016

Murphy Crain

Fulbright-Terra Foundation Awards for Teaching and Research in China and Europe

Applications are now available to teach or teach and conduct research on American art history topics in China and Europe. In China, scholars can propose to conduct their grant at Tsinghua University, Peking University, or another appropriate institution. In Europe, scholars can propose to conduct their grants at a university in a European country (except France, Germany, and England). The China awards target US scholars at the assistant professor level or higher, with a minimum of five years of university-level teaching experience. The Europe awards are open to US scholars of all levels.

The application deadline is August 1, 2016.

For more information and to apply, please visit the Fulbright US Scholar Program website: <http://catalog.cies.org/searchResults.aspx?kw=terra+foundation>

Contact for European awards:

Jordanna Enrich, Acting Director, Fulbright US Scholar Program, europееurasia@iie.org

Contact for China awards:

Sophia Yang, Program Officer, Fulbright US Scholar Program, eastasiapacific@iie.org

Reference:

STIP: Fulbright-Terra Foundation Awards for Teaching and Research in China and Europe. In: ArtHist.net, Apr 20, 2016 (accessed Jul 16, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/12765>>.