

Professor of Art (Berlin)

Berlin, Jan 02, 2017

Application deadline: Sep 15, 2016

Bendetta Roux

Bard College Berlin, A Liberal Arts University invites applications for a

Professor of Art (W1)

Bard College Berlin seeks to appoint a Professor (W2) to lead its practicing arts programs (studio arts and performance) and contribute either to these and/or to its related course offerings in aesthetics and art history.

Applicants are considered from any field of the practicing arts, curatorial studies, aesthetics, theater/performance/dance studies, or art history with a contemporary focus. Strong candidates will have interdisciplinary interests, with the ability to teach scholarly or studio courses across multiple fields of artistic inquiry. A requirement for all candidates is a record of excellence in teaching. Artists should have a record of artistic practice at international level, a minimum of three years teaching experience, and at least an MA or MFA degree qualification or equivalent. Scholars should hold at least a PhD qualification in a relevant field and have an extensive record of research publication at international level.

Applications, accepted until September 15, should include a letter of interest, CV, three publications related to major projects undertaken in the last four years, and the names of three referees. Documents should be sent to Izabela Westphalen at i.westphalen@berlin.bard.edu.

Bard College Berlin is an equal opportunity employer.

Reference:

JOB: Professor of Art (Berlin). In: ArtHist.net, May 10, 2016 (accessed Jul 8, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/12820>>.