

Ars Graphica – New Polish satellite for the graphic arts

Alexandra Blanc, Grażyna Jurkowlaniec and Magdalena Herman

AG Polska is the new satellite of Ars Graphica: it intends to promote the exchange of ideas in the graphic arts and to connect with local collections of prints and drawings. Study meetings and visits of conservation workshops, artists' studios and current exhibitions will be organized in Poland. The Polish satellite is managed by Grażyna Jurkowlaniec (University of Warsaw) and Magdalena Herman (University of Warsaw).

Scholars from Poland, you are welcome to join the satellite by sending us an e-mail!

Ars Graphica has now 6 local study centres:

Holland & Belgium – London – Paris – Poland – Rome – Switzerland

Our focus encompasses old master & contemporary prints & drawings, photography and graphic design.

Who can join?

The satellites are aimed at art historians, curators, conservators, graduate students, artists, publishers and experts in graphic arts that want to promote this field of study by sharing experiences, knowledge and approaches. It is a space to share views and methodologies concerning art on paper in an interdisciplinary, intergenerational environment.

Ars Graphica gives you the opportunity to be part of a local network as well as an international one.
