HERITAS/ CIDEHUS - UNESCO Chair on Intangible Heritage

SAUC is an international researchers network and research topic associated with research units and territorial administrations. Since 2014 it has organized three scientific meetings, two book publications (and two more getting ready), and the four numbers of the SAUC Scientific Journal.

In the 2017 conference and third edition of the Journal, in a global context of “post-truth”, and aligned with the objectives of HERITAS/ CIDEHUS - UNESCO Chair on Intangible Heritage, two specific sub topics are proposed:

Intangible heritage and knowledge transfer. It is expected that from these sub topics we can clarify the relations of the research with practice, specifically regarding the big challenges generated to the intangible conservation, curatorial practices and knowledge transfer for the support of the best administrative policies.

We already confirmed the availability of personalities from several countries, curators and public administration representative and of relevance in the context of graffiti and street-art. Soon more informations about the program.
