

Studies in the History of Gardens & Designed Landscapes, Vol 31, Issue 2, 2011

Jennifer Roberts, Oxford

Studies in the History of Gardens & Designed Landscapes

Special Issue Now Available

The latest issue of Studies in the History of Gardens & Designed Landscapes is a special issue, Australasian Gardens and Landscapes.

This issue is now available online and contains the following articles:

Reflections on the history of Australasian gardens and landscapes

James John Beattie and Katie Holmes

Victorian landscapes in 1788

Bill Gammage

Changing Aboriginal landscapes of pastoral Victoria, 1830-1850

Richard Broome

The free selector's landscape: Moulding the Victorian farming districts, 1870-1915

Charles Fahey

'I shut my eyes and picture our place': gardens, farm landscapes and working-class dreams in 1930s-1940s south-eastern Australia

Ruth Ford

Growing Australian landscapes: the use and meanings of native plants in gardens in twentieth-century Australia

Katie Holmes

Designing bush landscapes: history and place in Eltham and Castlecrag

Kylie Mirmohamadi

Making home, making identity: Asian garden making in New Zealand, 1850s-1930s

James John Beattie

Transplanted gardens: aspects of the design of the Garden of Beneficence, Wellington, New Zealand

Duncan Campbell

Find out more at: <http://www.informaworld.com/tgah>

Reference:

TOC: Studies in the History of Gardens & Designed Landscapes, Vol 31, Issue 2, 2011. In: ArtHist.net, Jun 11, 2011 (accessed Feb 1, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/1522>>.