

Getty/ACLS postdoctoral fellowships

Application deadline: Oct 25, 2017

www.acls.org/programs/getty/

Elizabeth Mansfield, Getty Foundation

The Getty Foundation is funding a postdoctoral fellowship program that is being administered by the American Council of Learned Societies.

ACLS invites applications for Getty/ACLS Postdoctoral Fellowships in the History of Art, made possible by the generous support of the Getty Foundation. These fellowships are intended to support an academic year of research and/or writing by early career scholars for a project that will make a substantial and original contribution to the understanding of art and its history. ACLS will award 10 fellowships, each with a stipend of $60,000 plus $5,000 for research and travel during the award period, and a one-week residence at the Getty Center following the fellowship. The ultimate goal of the project should be a major piece of scholarly work by the applicant.

Getty/ACLS Postdoctoral Fellowships in the History of Art are portable and are tenable at the fellow's home institution, abroad, or at another appropriate site for research. These fellowships may not be held concurrently with other fellowships and grants, but may be combined with sabbatical pay up to an amount equal to the candidate's current academic year salary.

Fellowship Details

- Amount: $60,000 plus $5,000 for research and travel expenses
- Tenure: the 2018-19 academic year
- Completed applications must be submitted through the ACLS Online Fellowship and Grant Application system (ofa.acls.org) no later than 9 pm Eastern Daylight Time, October 25, 2017.
- Notifications will be sent via email by late March 2018.

Reference:

STIP: Getty/ACLS postdoctoral fellowships. In: ArtHist.net, Jul 10, 2017 (accessed Sep 3, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/15973>>.