

Extended Deadline: 6th Euroacademia Forum of Critical Studies (Lucca, 25 Nov 17)

Lucca, Nov 23–25, 2017

Deadline: Oct 15, 2017

Dorian Istone, Euroacademia

CALL FOR PAPERS

Section on Art History, Literature, Film and Performance Studies

As part of

The 6th Global Forum of Critical Studies

Asking Big Questions Again

23 - 25 November 2017, Lucca, Italy

Agora Cultural Centre

Deadline Extended: 15th of October 2017

The 6th Euroacademia Global Forum of Critical Studies aims to bring into an open floor the reflexive and questioning interaction among academics, intellectuals, practitioners and activists profoundly concerned with evaluative understandings of the world we're living in. The focus of the forum is to initiate an arena where no question is misplaced and irrelevant as long as we acknowledge that evaluation, critical thinking and contestation are accessible trajectories to better understand our past, present and alternative scenarios for the future.

Call for the Section on Arts, Literature, Film and Performance Studies

When it's about critical thinking and critical studies there is intrinsically an unending open list of topics to be included. The Fifth Euroacademia Forum on Critical Studies proposes the 5 sections (that are by no means exclusive): Theory/Philosophy/Politics/Cultural Studies/Political Economy/Arts, Literature, Film and Performance Studies

In the section on Art History, Literature, File and Performing Studies, we still welcome papers as part of the following panels:

- Art History and Identity Making Practices
- Art as Cultural Diplomacy
- Performing Identity in Theater, Literature and Performing Arts
- Sequential Art: Comics as a Cultural Nexus
- Identity and the City: Critical Urban Studies

The description of the panels can be accessed on the conference website.

We also welcome a limited number of papers, performing lectures, performances and small scale exhibitions. Presentations on the following topics (and not only) are welcome:

The Critical Potential of Arts ~ Aesthetics and Criticism ~ Arts, History and Critical Social Imaginary ~ The Politics of Social Representations ~ Art as an Exchange Value ~ Originality and Complacency ~ Literatures and Authors ~ Heroes and Heroines in Electronic Literature ~ Fiction and the Fictionalization of the Contemporary World ~ Film and the Persisting Hunger for Heroic Imagination ~ The Visual Turn ~ Facing the Post-Self in Critical Art ~ Communication, Media and Simulacrum ~ Art and Social Criticism ~ Art and Protest ~ Social Art ~ Critical Performances ~ Performing Identities ~ Queer Art and Gendered Representations ~ Performances and Violence ~ Engaging Critical Audiences ~ Exhibitions and Critical Art ~ Film as a Critical Art
