

Faculty Fellow in American Art History, Colby College, Waterville

Colby College, Waterville, ME, USA, Sep 01, 2018

Tanya Sheehan, Colby College

The Department of Art at Colby College invites applicants for a one-year sabbatical replacement position in American art history at the rank of Faculty Fellow.

The four-course teaching load includes a two-semester survey of American art, from ca. 1650 to the present, and two additional courses in any of the following areas: Native American art, Latino art, Latin American art, and modern architecture. We are especially interested in candidates who, through their scholarship, teaching, and service, will promote diversity at Colby. The successful candidate will have opportunities to engage with the rich collections in American art at the Colby College Museum of Art and to participate in activities organized by the newly established Lunder Institute for American Art.

Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in art history before the start of the position on September 1, 2018. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, three letters of recommendation, and sample syllabus for a survey of American art history. All application materials should be submitted via Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/45072>. Review of applications will begin February 1, 2018 and continue until the position is filled. Questions about this search should be directed to Professor Tanya Sheehan, tsheehan@colby.edu.

One of the finest liberal arts colleges in the United States, Colby has an increasingly global reach and an international reputation for excellence. Faculty scholars from around the world and intellectual students from more than 70 countries are drawn to the scenic Mayflower Hill campus and to Maine's unique environment. Colby is a private, coeducational liberal arts college that admits students and makes employment decisions on the basis of the individual's qualifications that contribute to Colby's educational objectives and institutional needs. Colby College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, religion, ancestry or national origin, age, marital status, genetic information, or veteran's status in employment or in our educational programs. Colby is an Equal Opportunity employer, committed to excellence through diversity, and encourages applications from qualified persons of color, women, persons with disabilities, military veterans and members of other under-represented groups. Colby complies with Title IX, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in an institution's education programs and activities. Questions regarding Title IX may be referred to Colby's

Title IX coordinator or to the federal Office of Civil Rights. For more information about the College, please visit our website: www.colby.edu.

Reference:

JOB: Faculty Fellow in American Art History, Colby College, Waterville. In: ArtHist.net, Oct 13, 2017 (accessed Jan 17, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/16460>>.