Yale University, New Haven, Jul 01, 2018

Nicole Chardiet

The Department of the History of Art invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in modern art across all media, including film and photography, from 1890 to 1960. We particularly invite applications from candidates with an expertise in global modernisms. Start date for the position is July 1, 2018.

Applicants should have Ph.D. or equivalent degree at time of hire by July 1, 2018 and should show accomplishment and promise in teaching and research appropriate to their experience. Applications, including description of teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, a sample of scholarship such as an article and/or dissertation chapter prepared for anonymous reading, and letters from at least three referees should be submitted online at <http://apply.interfolio.com/46108>

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.
