

PhD Studentships, Kingston School of Art (London 2018)

Kingston School of Art, Kingston University, London

Application deadline: Nov 20, 2017

Emily Bowles

PhD studentships, Kingston School of Art, Kingston University

Major PhD funding opportunity for UK/EU students for October 2018 start

Kingston School of Art is a member of two consortia that have been awarded a total of £15.9m by the Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC) to fund more than 200 postgraduate students in London and the South East. The two Doctoral Training Partnerships – TECHNE – and the London Doctoral Design Centre (LDOC) bring together leading academic institutions, cultural organisations and industry partners to provide innovative postgraduate training and support.

Kingston School of Art's two research centres in The Modern Interior and Visual & Material Culture are now inviting applications for both the TECHNE and LDOC consortiums in the areas of:

- Archival Practices - History, Theory, Practice
- Art History and Critical Theory
- Curating
- Design History and Material Culture
- Film and Television Studies
- Heritage, Museum and Galleries
- Photography, History, Theory

Awards will be available for both full-time and part-time students (AHRC eligibility criteria apply). Studentships include full research fees, a substantial maintenance grant and additional research training support. In order to be eligible to apply for an AHRC TECHNE or LDOC award, you should apply first to Kingston University by an earlier deadline - see here for more details of the application process: <http://www.kingston.ac.uk/research/research-degrees/funding/ahrc-studentships/>

AHRC Maintenance rates for 2018-19 are yet to be announced - the doctoral stipend for 2017-18 was £16,553 (three years full-time or part-time equivalent for six years); levels are likely to rise slightly for 2018-19.

- TECHNE at Kingston School of Art - deadline for initial TECHNE applications for the above subject areas: 5.00pm (GMT) on Monday 20 November 2017

Interviews will be held from 27 November 2017

Deadline for final submission to TECHNE: GMT Midnight Sunday 28 January 2018

Please also see here for details of a 2018 Partnership Doctoral Award, supported by TECHNE, between Kingston University and the British Film Institute:
<https://www.kingston.ac.uk/faculties/kingston-school-of-art/research-and-innovation/research-funding-opportunities/>

- LDOC at Kingston School of Art- deadline for initial LDoc applications for above areas: 5.00pm (GMT) 27 November 2017

Interviews will be held from 4 December 2017

Deadline for final applications to LDOC: GMT Midnight 5 February 2018

Please also see here for details of a 2018 Collaborative Doctoral Award, supported by LDoc, between Kingston University and Crafts Council:
<https://www.kingston.ac.uk/faculties/kingston-school-of-art/research-and-innovation/research-funding-opportunities/>

Find out more about research degrees in Kingston School of Art here:
<https://www.kingston.ac.uk/faculties/kingston-school-of-art/research-and-innovation/research-degrees/>

For further information, please contact Emily Bowles E.Bowles@kingston.ac.uk or Peter Taylor P.Taylor@kingston.ac.uk

Reference:

STIP: PhD Studentships, Kingston School of Art (London 2018). In: ArHist.net, Nov 2, 2017 (accessed Mar 23, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/16638>>.