OVERVIEW:

Following the international conference, 'Trash or Treasure', organized by DOCOMOMO International in August 2007 (and hosted at Edinburgh College of Art), this two-day conference will continue the international debates on post-war mass-housing, focusing on the specific issues of Eastern Europe. Its structure is as follows. On Day 1 (7 September) there will be study visits to two alternative local initiatives of mass housing inventorisation. On Day 2 (8 September) the main conference session will present case-studies from different countries in Eastern Europe, set in the wider global/European 'geopolitical' context of mass housing, and will also explore methodological perspectives, including issues of recording/inventorisation; it will end with an open discussion. The proceedings will be published electronically by DOCOMOMO International, and will feed into a proposed Housing theme session in the 2012 DOCOMOMO Conference in Helsinki.
