

PhD Graduate Teaching Assistant Studentship, Leicester

University of Leicester

Application deadline: Feb 23, 2018

Samuel Raybone

History of Art and Film (School of Arts), University of Leicester is seeking to recruit a Graduate Teaching Assistant for a PhD in History of Art.

Graduate Research Assistantships allow you to fund your PhD study through part-time research work with the University. The Graduate Research Assistant is responsible to the Head of Department, and is expected to undertake research-related duties as required within the Department, not normally exceeding the equivalent of seven contact hours per week, during term time.

Funding for this post is available for four years. Appointment to the post is subject to formal confirmation that you are registered, and continue to be registered, for the duration of your post, as a full-time student with the University of Leicester.

Further details can be found here:
<https://www2.le.ac.uk/research-degrees/funding/ssah/GTA2018SchoolofArts.pdf>

The closing date for applications is Friday 23 February 2018

For enquiries please contact:

History of Art PhD ArtsPhD@le.ac.uk

Application enquiries please contact pgradmissions@le.ac.uk

Reference:

JOB: PhD Graduate Teaching Assistant Studentship, Leicester. In: ArtHist.net, Jan 25, 2018 (accessed Mar 23, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/17225>>.