

Urban Planning, Vol 4, No. 3, special issue: Housing builds cities

EPFL, École Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne, Switzerland

Deadline: Dec 31, 2018

www.cogitatiopress.com/urbanplanning/pages/view/nextissues#housing

Chiara Monterumisi

special issue of the open access peer-reviewed journal

"Urban Planning" - Cogitatio Press

"HOUSING BUILDS CITIES"

Volume 04, Issue 03, September 2019

Editors

Luca Ortelli, Chiara Monterumisi, Alessandro Porotto

LCC - Laboratory of construction and conservation

<https://lcc.epfl.ch>

2019 marks the 90th anniversary of the second C.I.A.M -Congrès Internationaux d'Architecture Moderne and it represents a springboard for this special issue of Urban Planning, which aims to widen the debate over housing experiences beyond any geographical and time frameworks. We invite scholars and Ph.D. students to submit contributions focused on case studies or particular planning strategies starting from Neues Bauen to the present days.

Nevertheless, this issue of Urban Planning will be arranged around some key topics expressed in C.I.A.M programmes – e.g. urban policies, spatial models and ideas, typological aspects, technological and standardization aspects, social factors – because they are still relevant starting points for a comparative perspective. This would lead to demonstrate how housing has always embodied a social, morphological and structural unit for living, which has affected, and still does, the form and evolution of the city.

Authors interested in submitting a paper for this issue are invited to send an abstract by 31 December 2018 (200-250 words, with a tentative title) to the following e-mail addresses:

chiara.monterumisi@epfl.ch

alessandro.porotto@epfl.ch

Accepted authors will be notified by 10 January 2019.

Full papers (6000 words including definitive title, abstract and references list) go through a double-blind peer-review process and are requested by 31 March 2019.

Publication is expected to be in September 2019.

More information on the call for paper and guidelines on paper submission can be found at the following link <https://www.cogitatiopress.com/urbanplanning/pages/view/nextissues#housing>.

Reference:

CFP: Urban Planning, Vol 4, No. 3, special issue: Housing builds cities. In: Arthist.net, Nov 19, 2018 (accessed Jun 28, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/19572>>.