CONCEPTUALISM AND MATERIALITY: MATTERS OF ART AND POLITICS

Conference and Book Launch

This conference celebrates the publication of Conceptualism and Materiality: Matters of Art and Politics (ed. by Christian Berger, Brill, 2019). The aim is to underscore the significance of materials and materiality within Anglo-American Conceptual art, as well as conceptualism more broadly. It challenges the notion of conceptualism as an idea-centred, anti-materialist enterprise, and highlights the political implications thereof.

The contributors focus on the importance of material considerations for artists working during the 1960s and 1970s in different parts of the world. In reconsidering conceptualism's neglected material aspects, this group of international scholars will gather in London to reveal the rich range of artistic inquiries into theoretical and political notions of matter and material. They revise and diversify the account of a decisive moment in the history of twentieth-century art – a reassessment that carries wider implications for the study of art and materiality in general.

The conference is organised by Dr Christian Berger, Research Fellow and Lecturer, Johannes Gutenberg-Universität Mainz/Marie Skłodowska Curie Fellow, The Courtauld Institute of Art. Supported by The Centre for American Art and the Research Forum. More information on the book can be found on the publisher's website (<https://brill.com/view/title/38672>).

There are 15 free tickets available for PhD students and early career researchers (not limited to the Courtauld or the UK). Please send up to 200 words on how and why attending the conference will benefit your research, plus a short bio (max 150 words) to christian.berger@courtauld.ac.uk by the 25 September 2019. Please title the subject of your email 'Bursaries Conceptualism and Materiality'.
