La Pietra Dissertation Travel Fellowship in Transnational History

Fellowship Deadline: 2001-12-01

This newly created prize provides financial assistance to graduate students whose dissertation topics deal with aspects of American history that extend beyond U.S. borders. The fellowship may be used for international travel to collections vital to dissertation research. Applicants must be currently enrolled in a graduate program. One $1250 fellowship will be awarded annually.

To apply, submit the following:

- * A 2-3 page project description indicating the dissertation's significance and including a statement of the major collection(s) to be examined abroad and their relevance to the dissertation.

- * Two letters of recommendation, including one from the dissertation advisor.

- * Current c.v. indicating language proficiency.
