

Europe and the World, Grad. Stud. Conf., Washington DC March 22-23, 2002

Institute for European Studies

Call for Papers:

"Europe and the World: United Europe Comes into its Own"

Sixth Graduate Student Conference organized by Georgetown students' BMW Center for German and European Studies. The conference entitled "Europe and the World: United Europe Comes into its Own" will be held March 22-23, 2002 at Georgetown University.

Encouraged to participate are Master's and Doctoral students in the humanities and social sciences (History, Cultural Studies, Political Science, Economics, Anthropology, International Relations, Language and Literature), currently enrolled in degree granting programs.

We ask that all abstracts be postmarked or emailed by December 10, 2001. Abstracts should be 300-500 words (1-1.5 pages). Please include a resume with your submission. Successful applicants will be notified in early January. Send submissions to:

cgesgradconference@Georgetown.edu
Graduate Student Conference
BMW Center for German & European Studies
Intercultural Center 501
Georgetown University
Washington, DC 20057

Reference:

CFP: Europe and the World, Grad. Stud. Conf., Washington DC March 22-23, 2002. In: ArtHist.net, Oct 30, 2001 (accessed Apr 26, 2024), <<https://arthist.net/archive/24662>>.