

Safundi, Journal of South African & American Comparative Studies

Andrew Offenburger

Comparative Studies(12/15/01)

Safundi, The Journal of South African and American Comparative Studies, encourages any scholar or professional to submit a paper for publication on the website, www.safundi.com. Papers are being collected for publication in Issue 8 (February 2002).

DUE DATE: December 15, 2001

SUGGESTED TOPICS: Any topic dealing with South African and American comparative studies: politics, sociology, biology, law, economics, art, music, letters, history, etc. Essays and personal experience pieces are also welcomed.

PUBLICATION INFO: Safundi is a peer-reviewed, quarterly, academic journal devoted to the comparative study of South Africa and the United States. Christopher Saunders of the University of Cape Town and Scott Rosenberg of Wittenberg University serve as the journal's Editors-in-Chief.

SUBMISSION INFO: Review the writer's guidelines at <http://www.safundi.com/guidelines.asp> and then submit your paper at <http://www.safundi.com/submission.asp>.

Papers of a comparative nature receive priority. The website, with the juxtaposition of disparate papers, aims to compare and contrast the American and South African experiences.

You must be a member to submit a paper; membership is free and open to the public at <http://www.safundi.com/members.asp>

Thank you.

Andrew Offenburger

Founder & Publisher

Safundi: The Journal of South African & American Comparative Studies

<http://www.safundi.com>

Reference:

CFP: Safundi, Journal of South African & American Comparative Studies. In: ArtHist.net, Nov 20, 2001
(accessed Jul 12, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/24747>>.