

Museums and the Web 2003 (North Carolina, 19-22.03.03)

J. Trant

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

Museums and the Web 2003

March 19-22, 2003

Charlotte, North Carolina, USA

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/>

Deadline: September 30, 2002.

Thousands of cultural and heritage institutions are now on-line, presenting programs, creating communities and delivering information using the world wide web. But museums, libraries, archives and others involved in creating digital heritage have much to learn about what makes web sites successful, and what users really need. To facilitate this exchange of information, Archives & Museum Informatics organizes an annual international conference devoted to Museums and the Web. Since the first Museums and the Web in 1997, the conference has grown steadily to become the largest gathering of cultural heritage technologists world-wide.

Proposals for papers, pre-conference workshops, in-conference mini-workshops and other formats of presentations are being received at <http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/> until September 30, 2002.

Proposals for Demonstrations will be accepted until December 15, 2002. All proposals will be peer reviewed by the program committee.

Conference Papers from all previous Museums and the Web conferences are available on-line. See <http://www.archimuse.com/mw.html> for links. Printed proceedings (with an accompanying CD-ROM) are also available.

Questions?

Email mw2003@archimuse.com. If you would like to receive the MW2003 Preliminary Program, please join our mailing list at <http://www.archimuse.com/maillinglist.html>

We hope to see you in Charlotte.

jennifer and David

Jennifer Trant and David Bearman,
MW2003 Program co-chairs.

Please note our new address.

J. Trant and D. Bearman mw2003@archimuse.com
Co-Chairs, Museums and the Web Charlotte, North Carolina
Archives & Museum Informatics March 19-22, 2003
158 Lee Avenue <http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/>
Ontario M4E 2P3 phone: +1 416 691 2516
Canada fax: +1 416 352 6025

Reference:

CFP: Museums and the Web 2003 (North Carolina, 19-22.03.03). In: ArtHist.net, Sep 23, 2002 (accessed Jun 18, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/25178>>.