

Academic position in the history of modern art, University of Haifa

Oct 01, 2012

Application deadline: Feb 29, 2012

Department of Art History

Faculty of Humanities

University of Haifa

Main Category: Modern Art

Secondary Categories: 19th and early 20th century art history and theory of art

The Department of Art History at The University of Haifa invites applications with a Ph.D. degree for a tenure-track academic position in the history of modern art. Rank will be dependent on the academic achievements of the applicant, and will be subject to University regulations.

The department of Art History is particularly interested in applicants whose scholarship focuses on the 19th and early 20th century. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses related to topics of his/her expertise, as well as introductory courses and workshops. The courses will be at undergraduate and graduate level.

The appointment will commence on October 1, 2012, subject to budgetary approval. For further information regarding the department, visit our website: www.art.haifa.ac.il

The deadline for applications is the end of February 2012.

Applications should include the following items:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum Vitae and list of publications
- A description of three courses the candidate can teach in the field of Modern Art, with indication of whether the course would be taught at an introductory or advanced level
- Language of instruction: Hebrew and English
- Electronic copies of three recent published articles
- Three letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the Department of Art History

All correspondence will be treated in confidence, and should be addressed to:
