

Museums and the Web 2003, March 19-22, 2003 (Charlotte NC)

J. Trant

Museums and the Web 2003

Charlotte, North Carolina, USA

March 19-22, 2003

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/>

MWW2003 Preliminary Program Available

The MW2003 Preliminary Program is now available. It features over 25 sessions, 7 full-day and 6 half-day pre-conference workshops, and dozens of demonstrations, the Crit Room and an on-site Usability Lab. Many thanks to the Program Committee who reviewed almost three times as many proposals as could be accepted, and to all those who proposed to participate.

Registration is Open

On-line registration is now available. Register early to ensure your place in limited enrollment workshops.

See <http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/register/>

Demonstration Proposal Deadline

Proposals from not-for-profit organizations who wish to demonstrate their Web sites will be accepted through December 15, 2002. Submit your proposal on-line at <http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/demos/>

Best of the Web

Nominations for the Best of the Web competition are open until January 11, 2003. Ensure the judges consider your favourite site. Nominate it at <http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/best/>

Exhibit Hall

Design firms, software providers, museum web developers, publishers, digital capture houses and others offering products and services related to Museums and the Web will be represented in the Exhibit Hall.

Exhibitor information is available at <http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003/exhibit/>

Join Us!

MW2003 will be the largest international -- and interdisciplinary -- gathering of professionals involved in creating Web sites for cultural and heritage organizations.

Attendees at MW2002 'loved the mix of curators and geeks' and called it it the 'friendliest, most pertinent conference'.

We hope to see you in Charlotte!

jennifer and David

David Bearman and Jennifer Trant

Co-Chairs, Museums and the Web 2003

Archives & Museum Informatics mw2003@archimuse.com

158 Lee Avenue, Toronto ph: +1 416 691 2516

Ontario, M4E 2P3 Canada fx: +1 416-352-6025

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2003>

J. Trantjtrant@archimuse.com

Partner & Principal Consultantphone: +1 416 691 2516

Archives & Museum Informaticsfax: +1 416 352 6025

158 Lee Ave, Toronto

Ontario M4E 2P3 Canada<http://www.archimuse.com>

Reference:

CONF: Museums and the Web 2003, March 19-22, 2003 (Charlotte NC). In: ArtHist.net, Dec 5, 2002 (accessed May 13, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/25382>>.