

2012 Summer Institute for Israel Studies - Deadline extended

Application deadline: Jan 31, 2012

Keren Goodblatt

DEADLINE EXTENDED

Still accepting applications for the 2012 Summer Institute for Israel Studies Fellowship.

APPLICATIONS ARE BEING ACCEPTED THROUGH THE END OF JANUARY.

Program takes place June 12 - 25, 2012 at Brandeis University and continues June 27 - July 5, 2012 in Israel.

Design a course on Israel this summer at Brandeis. The Summer Institute for Israel Studies assists faculty in designing new courses in Israel Studies, or incorporating a segment on Israel into existing courses. Candidates from the social sciences and humanities are invited to apply.

Fellowships include:

- Stipend of up to $2500 for full course; $1500 for Brandeis seminar only
- Travel, meals, and accommodations at Brandeis and in Israel
- Seminars taught by world-class faculty from Israel and the United States
- Access to vast Israel Studies online resource center and Brandeis University's online library resources

Apply online, and access full details at www.brandeis.edu/israelcenter/SIIS.

Contact: Keren Goodblatt at 781-736-7310 or kereng1@brandeis.edu

Reference:

STIP: 2012 Summer Institute for Israel Studies - Deadline extended. In: ArtHist.net, Jan 14, 2012 (accessed Jul 2, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/2544>>.