

Spring lecture series at Columbia University, NYC

Victoria Sancho

The Graduate Student Lecture Series of Columbia University's Department of Art History and Archaeology is pleased to announce its remaining events for the spring semester. All lectures are free and open to the public and will take place in Schermerhorn Hall at Columbia's Morningside Heights campus (116th and Broadway) in Manhattan. For more information, send inquiries to vas2003@columbia.edu.

Tuesday, March 11, 6:15pm, Schermerhorn 612

Ioli Kalavrezou, Harvard University

"The Emergence of the Everyday: Images of Women in Byzantine Art"

Monday, March 24, 7:15pm, Schermerhorn 612

Paula Findlen, Stanford University

"The Making of the Renaissance: What Everyone Since Gibbon Saw in the Museum"

Monday, April 7, 7:15pm, Schermerhorn 612

Elizabeth Honig, University of California, Berkeley

"Genealogy and Style: Jan Brueghel, Son of the More Famous Pieter"

Contact:

Victoria Sancho

Doctoral Student

Department of Art History and Archaeology

Columbia University

vas2003@columbia.edu

Reference:

ANN: Spring lecture series at Columbia University, NYC. In: ArtHist.net, Feb 25, 2003 (accessed Aug 2, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/25465>>.