ANNOUNCING H-Peace: H-Net Network on Peace History and Peace Studies

Sponsored by H-Net, Humanities & Social Sciences On-line, Michigan State University

ABOUT H-Peace

H-Peace is an international scholarly network that seeks to broaden understanding about historical and contemporary peace and justice concerns. An affiliate of the Peace History Society, H-Peace provides an easy way to stay informed of the latest developments in Peace History and Peace Studies, and to communicate with other scholars working and teaching in these fields.

H-Peace will specifically address issues of:

- nonviolent theory and practice
- disarmament, arms control, and international peacekeeping campaigns
- state-sponsored, non-governmental, and grassroots efforts to promote peace, social justice and human rights
- peace culture and education
- the impact of gender, race, class, sexuality, religion, nationality, and ethnicity on regional and global conflicts
- poverty, underdevelopment, epidemics, natural resources, and the global economy and environment as they pertain to questions of peace, war, and security
- nonviolent alternatives to violence and war

The H-Peace list is co-edited by Marian Mollin, mmollin@vt.edu, Ian Lekus, lekus@duke.edu, Scott Bennett, bennetts@georgian.edu, Christy Snider, csnider@berry.edu, and Amy Schneidhorst, aschne1@uic.edu.

Like all H-Net lists, H-Peace is moderated to edit out material that, in the editors' opinion, is not germane to the list, involves technical matters (such as subscription management requests), is inflammatory, or violates evolving, yet common, standards of Internet etiquette. H-Net's procedure for resolving disputes over list editorial practices is Article II, Section 2.20 of our bylaws, located at:
