

Sharing library information on a website

Nina Luebbren

I recently visited a number of libraries in Italy, Germany and France on a research trip. I realised that it would have been really helpful to have had some advice on how best to negotiate each library system in advance. This would have saved me a lot of time and bother, in particular in places where I was not 100 percent certain of the language.

I would be very happy to share my own experiences on a website. Would anybody else be interested in reading such information and/or interested in contributing to a common experience pool of 'libraries of the world'?

Libraries I myself can comment on: British Library (London), University Library of Cambridge (UK), Zentralinstitut fuer Kunstgeschichte (Munich), Kunstbibliothek (Berlin), Staatsbibliothek (Berlin), Biblioteca Nazionale Centrale di Roma (Rome), Biblioteca Braidense (Milan, Brera), Bibliotheque Nationale (Paris).

Please email me at nlubbren@yahoo.com

If there is enough interest, I shall set up a website.

Dr Nina Luebbren
Dept of Art and Design
Anglia Polytechnic University
East Road
Cambridge CB1 1PT
U.K.

Reference:

Q: Sharing library information on a website. In: ArtHist.net, May 3, 2003 (accessed Jul 13, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/25651>>.