This session will look at the representation of skin in 18th-century visual culture. Topic will including questions of gender and race in relation to skin color and complexion, aesthetic debates on opacity and transparency of skin, artistic practices of depicting skin, philosophical and psychoanalytical considerations relating to skin as surface, border/body-limits, the skin-ego and questions of identity. Papers may also address the performativity of skin through blushing, tattooing, cosmetics, and body markings, including forcefully induced scarification and wounds.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

Proposals for papers should be sent directly to the seminar chair no later than 15 September 2003. Please include your telephone and fax numbers and e-mail address. You should also let the session chair know of any anticipated audio-visual needs. Please note that we will be unable to provide computers or computer-projection equipment. Seminar chairs will have until 1 October to send the names of participants and the titles of their papers to the organizers in Boston and to the ASECS Business Office (asecs@wfu.edu) (Fax: 336-727-4697)

Please be reminded that the Society's rules permit members to present only one paper at the meeting. Members may, in addition to presenting a paper, serve as a session chair, a respondent, or a panel discussant, but they may not present a paper in those sessions they also chair. If you submit a paper proposal to more than one session, please be sure that you so notify all the chairs to which you have made a submission. If you fail to notify the session chairs, they will have the right to decide between themselves in which session the paper(s) will be presented or if the papers will be excluded entirely. Participants are expected to be ASECS members by 1 December 2003.
