Co-panelists, 20th century conference, Louisville

Amanda A.

I am seeking one co-panelist for a session on the city and its representations (in literature, in film, in other cultural texts) for the Louisville 20th Century Literature Conference.

The two co-panelists will be presenting papers on, respectively, the links between theories of modernism/postmodernism and the practice of urban renovation in the center of Paris, and representations of the city in contemporary literature.

Papers on representations of contemporary urban space or landscapes, particularly in France / Europe but possibly elsewhere, would be welcome, as would papers on other related subjects.

If you are interested please contact me at aas195@psu.edu.

The URL for the conference website is:
http://www.louisville.edu/a-s/cml/xxconf/

Amanda A. Shoaf
Pennsylvania State University Department of French
aas195@psu.edu
office: 325-C South Burrowes Building office hours: Monday 10:00 AM - 12:00 PM and by appt.
Tel: 865-9580

Reference:

CFP: Co-panelists, 20th century conference, Louisville. In: ArtHist.net, Sep 13, 2003 (accessed Nov 1, 2026), <https://arthist.net/archive/25842>.