

Design Research News

Ken Friedman

Dear Colleagues,

Design Research News is a free, monthly email newsletter with information on design and design research. It is sponsored by the Design Research Society as a professional and educational service.

Design Research News publishes information on projects, exhibitions, conferences, funding sources, and current books for an international audience in design research, practice, and education.

Over 7,300 subscribers around the world receive Design Research News on the first of every month. Design Research News is NOT a discussion list. Only the newsletter is sent.

We often publish material that will interest colleagues in other fields, including management studies, social science, and the arts. This includes crossover projects linking knowledge management, intermedia, and design, as well as book reviews on the knowledge economy, information science, research and research methods, and web-based research resources.

If you're curious, visit the archives at
<http://www.jiscmail.ac.uk/lists/design-research.html>

To subscribe simply go to URL:
<http://www.jiscmail.ac.uk/lists/design-research.html>

Then, click on the line marked:

Join or leave the JISCmail list (or change settings)
and follow the instructions.

Ken Friedman, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Leadership and Strategic Design
Department of Leadership and Organization
Norwegian School of Management

Visiting Professor
Advanced Research Institute
School of Art and Design
Staffordshire University

Reference:

ANN: Design Research News. In: Arthist.net, Sep 14, 2003 (accessed Dec 30, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/25873>>.