

Re: Q: Webresources for Medieval and Renaissance Prints

Mikael

Dear Editha Jacobs!

I do have some links on printed books from the period you are looking for. I hope they might be useful. Some are by Danish providers, and only in Danish, but the books are Vesalius and astrological treatises etc. from Italy, Germany and France, so they should do. Others are links to the emblembook project at Utrecht University and related material.

<http://www.italnet.nd.edu/Dante/>

<http://emblems.let.uu.nl/emblems/html/index.html>

<http://www.mun.ca/alciato/index.html>

<http://www.udstillinger.dnlb.dk/Vesalius/Index.html>

<http://www.dvjb.kvl.dk/dvjbba/dvjbainf/udstillinger/Bogskatte-1700/index.htm>

<http://www.udstillinger.dnlb.dk/Stjernebilleder/Index.html>

All are found in the Danish Gateway to Art resources, www.arkade.dk.

Yours,

Mikael Boegh Rasmussen, Copenhagen

---

From: VVB <vesna.velkovrh-bukilica@guest.arnes.si>

DAte: 01 March 2004

Subject: Q: Webresources for Medieval and Renaissance Prints

Dear dr. Jacobs,

the "Labyrinth" is perhaps the most comprehensive site for your purposes.

The link below should get you directly to the "Text, Image, and Archival Databases", from where you can get access to very valuable material.

http://www.georgetown.edu/labyrinth/medieval\_databases/medieval\_databases.html

Kind regards,

V. V. B.

--

ArtHist.net

Reference:

Q: Re: Q: Webresources for Medieval and Renaissance Prints. In: ArtHist.net, Mar 2, 2004 (accessed Feb 10, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/26263>>.