

New Journal: Home Cultures

Dell Upton

NEW JOURNAL FROM BERG PUBLISHERS:

Victor Buchli, Alison Clarke, and Dell Upton are editors of "Home Cultures", a new interdisciplinary journal that is the first forum wholly dedicated to the critical understanding of the domestic sphere across timeframes and cultures. Heavily illustrated and handsomely designed, the journal will address a range of topics, including the relationship between body and building; design and new technologies; politics, domesticity and social change. It is published three times a year. The first issue appeared in March and the second has just appeared. You can access the first issue FREE ONLINE through Ingenta at <http://zerlina.ingentaselect.com/vl=9045847/cl=15/nw=1/rpsv/cw/berg/17406315/contp1.htm>

"Home Cultures" invites submissions from design practice, design history, architecture, anthropology, sociology, archaeology, urban planning, contemporary art, geography, psychology, folklore, cultural studies, literary studies and art history.

See Berg's website for more information, as well as for subscription inquiries:

http://www.bergpublishers.com/us/homec/homec_about.htm.

Should you have an article you would like to submit, please write to <mailto:homecultures@ucl.ac.uk>.

Dell Upton
University of Virginia

Reference:

ANN: New Journal: Home Cultures. In: ArtHist.net, Jul 23, 2004 (accessed Sep 3, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/26516>>.