

Museums and the Web 2005 (Vancouver 13-16 Apr 05)

J. Trant

Museums and the Web 2005

Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

April 13 - April 16, 2005

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2005/>

Museums and the Web addresses the social, design, technological, economic, organizational and cultural issues of culture and heritage on-line. Taking an international perspective, senior speakers with extensive experience in Web development review and analyze the issues and impacts of networked cultural and natural heritage and look ahead to the transformation of communities and organizations.

Preliminary Program

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2005/pdfs/mw2005.preProgram.pdf>

Join hundreds of your professional colleagues from around the world for the international conference devoted to culture and heritage on-line: the ninth annual Museums and the Web.

Regular Registration Ends February 15, 2005

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2005/register/index.html>

Don't miss a chance for a discounted registration fee. Register on-line and make the February 15 2005 payment deadline for Regular Registration for MW2005.

Full Demonstration Schedule Available

<http://www.archimuse.com/mw2005/demos/index.html>

See museum sites shown by the people who created them. The Demo Hall is always a popular place to catch up on what's happening on-line and to ask questions. The full list of sites and demonstrators is now available.

Can't Make it? Get the Book

<http://www.archimuse.com/pub.order.html>

Selected Papers from Museums and the Web 2005 will be published in a print volume, accompanied by all papers on CD-ROM. Order your copy on-line.

Past papers from all MW conferences -- since 1997 -- are also available in print or online: see http://www.archimuse.com/conferences/speakers\_list.html or search the AMI site at <http://www.archimuse.com/search.html> for keyword access to all papers.

Join Us!

Each year, MW is largest international gathering of cultural and heritage web designers, developers and users. Plan to join us at what M2004 attendees called "a superlative conference" ... "most inspiring, most effective, most creative".

We hope to see you in Vancouver.
Jennifer and David

---

J. Trant jtrant@archimuse.com
Partner & Principal Consultant phone: +1 416 691 2516
Archives & Museum Informatics fax: +1 416 352 6025
158 Lee Ave, Toronto
Ontario M4E 2P3 Canada <http://www.archimuse.com>

Reference:

CONF: Museums and the Web 2005 (Vancouver13-16 Apr 05). In: Arthist.net, Feb 12, 2005 (accessed Aug 31, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/26968>>.