

The Middle Ages in Sixteenth-Century France (book)

Call for contributions

You are invited to submit a proposal for a book project entitled "The Middle Ages in Sixteenth-Century France". These essays aim to show the re-used or the presence of medieval elements in the fields of literature, arts and music in the 16th century. The geographical area will be restricted to France, but can deal with both French or foreign medieval writers/artists/musicians/influences. As this book will be interdisciplinary in nature, contributors from different fields are welcome. The topics which can be studied are (other suggestions are possible) :

1. Medieval influences in 16th-Century texts (topics, ideas, etc)
2. Rewriting-Adaptation of medieval texts
3. The reception of medieval writers/artists/musicians
4. Medieval influences/adaptations/re-used in Arts
5. Medieval influences/adaptations/re-used in Music

These essays will be in English. If you are interested in this project, please send your proposal (title, abstract of no more than 150 words, and a small résumé), quoting the number corresponding to section topics it addresses, to Dr. Jean-François Kosta-Théfaine (Email: jf_kt@yahoo.com).

Deadline : April 30th 2005.

<http://www.h-net.org/announce/show.cgi?ID=144164>

Reference:

CFP: The Middle Ages in Sixteenth-Century France (book). In: ArtHist.net, Feb 25, 2005 (accessed Dec 17, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/26991>>.