ICT Research in Arts and Humanities Survey

Vivian Wei Liang

Dear H-ArtHist members,

the JISC funded ARIA project is currently looking for information from researchers from all arts and humanities communities about good examples of how ICT resources and tools are being used in your subject area of research and about what ICT skills and tools you may need to acquire in future to support your research e.g. word processing, databases, linguistic analysis, web search engines, image enhancement tools and so on. We would be very grateful if you could spare 10 minutes to take part in a short online survey at http://aria.dmu.ac.uk

(follow the Questionnaire link) your help with this could help to make a significant contribution to ICT provision in arts and humanities research. When all the responses have been collated the results will be posted on the website.

Thank you for your help.

Professor Stephen Brown, project director.
