

European Architectural History Network (EAHN)

Brussels, May 31–Jun 3, 2012

Susan Klaiber, Winterthur

The program for the European Architectural History Network (EAHN) Second International Meeting in Brussels has now been published. The four-day conference (31 May - 3 June 2012) features thirty sessions and roundtables, with over 200 speakers and session chairs coming from thirty countries, and subjects ranging from ancient, medieval and early modern architecture through nineteenth- to twenty-first-century topics.

Keynote speakers are Ákos Moravánszky (ETH Zürich), Maarten Delbeke (Universiteit Gent), and Mary McLeod (Columbia University). In addition, a special evening lecture by Giorgio Ciucci (Università Roma Tre) will be held at the BOZAR.

A number of architectural tours and other events are also included in the program.

The conference will be held at the Palais des Académies, Brussels. The early registration period ends on 29 February 2012; those registering on 1 March or after will be subject to higher registration fees. Special discounts are available for students.

For the complete program and other information, or to register for the conference, visit the conference website at: <http://www.eahn2012.org>.

General chair: Prof. Hilde Heynen, K.U. Leuven

Contact: info@eahn2012.org

Organizer:

European Architectural History Network (EAHN)

c/o TU Delft

MIT - Faculty of Architecture

P.O. Box 5043

2600 GA Delft

The Netherlands

<http://www.eahn.org>

Reference:

CONF: European Architectural History Network (EAHN). In: ArtHist.net, Feb 15, 2012 (accessed Jun 12, 2026), <<https://arthist.net/archive/2711>>.