

American Art, Vol. 19, No. 2

Cynthia Mills

The Smithsonian American Art Museum is pleased to announce the publication of the Summer 2005 issue of

American Art
volume 19, no. 2

"The Return of the Eighteenth Century" in Americanist scholarship.

Table of contents:

Commentaries:

Wendy Bellion

"The Return of the Eighteenth Century"

Maurie D. McInnis

"Little of Artistic Merit? The Problem and Promise of Southern Art History"

Ellen G. Miles

"Looking Back: A Personal Perspective on Portraiture"

Feature Articles:

Jennifer Wingate

"Over the Top: The Doughboy in World War I Memorials and Visual Culture"

Sue Taylor

"Grant Wood's Family Album"

Joann Moser

"The Continuing Adventures of William T. Wiley" (an interview)

New Perspective:

Judy Bullington

"Thelma Johnson Streat and Cultural Synthesis on the West Coast"

Appreciation:

Sam Hunter

"Remembering Tom Wesselmann (1931-2004): And His Alter Ego, Slim Stealingworth"

--

American Art is a peer-reviewed periodical published three times per year, in March, July and November. Articles may encompass any aspect of America's visual heritage, including the fine arts, popular culture, photography and electronic media, public art, architecture, and the decorative arts.

American Art is now being published in both print and electronic editions by the University of Chicago Press for the Smithsonian American Art Museum. Information about submitting manuscripts, ordering subscriptions or single copies, reprint rights, and placement of ads for symposia and other events in the journal can be found at <http://www.journals.uchicago.edu/AmArt>

Reference:

TOC: American Art, Vol. 19, No. 2. In: ArtHist.net, Jul 28, 2005 (accessed Sep 17, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/27343>>.