0.5 Lectureship in Art History and Visual Culture

Department of Humanities

(1 Year Limited Term Contract)

£23,643 - £29,479 per annum pro rata (Starting salary unlikely to exceed

£23,643 per annum pro rata)

The Department of Humanities is seeking an enthusiastic individual with expertise in twentieth-century and contemporary art history to contribute to undergraduate teaching. You will teach students on the programme in Art History & Visual Culture.

Possessing a postgraduate qualification in a relevant academic discipline and having previous experience in teaching within higher or further education you should possess highly developed skills in oral and written communication. You must have the capacity to work as an effective team member and the ability to manage your time effectively.

This post is a one year fixed term post that has arisen to replace a member of staff who is on research leave from the institution. You would be likely to take over delivery of the second-year modules 'Idea and Image in 20th-Century Art' and 'Research Issues in Fine Art', and to contribute to the first-year core modules 'An Introduction to Visual Culture' and 'Representation and Beyond', as well as contributing to the supervision of final-year dissertations in Art History & Visual Culture.
