Paul Woodruff (University of Texas at Austin)

Deadline for Submissions for Open Sessions: Friday, February 17th, 2006

The 2nd College of Arts and Sciences Conference on Classical, Medieval, and Renaissance Studies will take place on Friday and Saturday, April 7th and 8th 2006 at The University of Texas at Tyler. The conference is intended to bring together students, faculty, and the local community to discuss a range of issues concerning the Classical, Medieval, and Renaissance periods as well as their continuing importance for us today. It will provide a wonderful venue for those interested in earlier cultural traditions to interact and gain greater exposure to the richness and diversity of these periods through panels, presentations, roundtables, displays, demonstrations, and musical and dramatic performances.

Abstracts from undergraduate, graduate students, faculty, and interested members of the community are encouraged on all topics concerning classical antiquity through the Renaissance. Papers or sessions on drama are particularly encouraged, as are comparative studies addressing the later influence of the classical, medieval, and renaissance periods on more recent aspects of British, American, or World Literature.

ANTHROPOLOGY – ARCHAEOLOGY – ART HISTORY – CLASSICAL STUDIES –
COMPARATIVE LITERATURE – HISTORY – HISTORY OF SCIENCE– LITERARY STUDIES –
MUSICOLOGY – PHILOSOPHY – POLITICAL SCIENCE– RELIGIOUS STUDIES --THEATER
HISTORY & INTERPRETATION – WOMEN'S & GENDER STUDIES

Abstracts of 150-250 words for a 15-20 minute paper should be e-mailed

(strongly preferred) to Victor Scherb at vscherb@mail.uttyl.edu or Edward Tabri at etabri@mail.uttyl.edu . :

In addition to the abstract, please include a brief personal statement or Curriculum Vitae of less than one page, with full contact information and a tentative assessment of any audiovisual equipment required for your presentation. The deadline for abstract submission is Friday, February 17th, 2006. A faculty/student committee will review submissions and respond by e-mail by the end of February. Abstracts of accepted papers will be made available on the conference web site.
