ABOUT H-Portugal

H-Portugal provides a forum for the discussion of issues, new and old, related to the study of Portuguese history. It brings together the sage historian and those who are just beginning their journey into Portuguese history. Since collaboration and the sharing of information is the primary goal of this discussion list we make sure that researchers are familiar with other sources on the web, and elsewhere, related to the study of Portugal. For example, there is the Portuguese Studies Review, Portuguese Studies, Lusotopie, the Portuguese Studies series from UCSB, and our own H-Luso-Africa. More recently, Brown University's e-journal of Portuguese history has begun to publish articles on various aspects of Portuguese history. We will work with all of these different mediums to provide an even richer experience for the student of Portuguese studies.

Like all H-Net lists, H-Portugal is moderated to edit out material that, in the editors' opinion, is not germane to the list, involves technical matters (such as subscription management requests), is inflammatory, or violates evolving, yet common, standards of Internet etiquette. H-Net's procedure for resolving disputes over list editorial practices is Article II, Section 2.20 of our bylaws, located at:

<http://www.h-net.org/about/by-laws.php>

H-Portugal is currently edited by Jeffery Irvin.

Logs and more information can also be located at:
