

Re: Q: Collections of Chinese Cultural Revolution

Schulenburg

Q: Amy Jane Barnes <ajb108@leicester.ac.uk>

Department of Museum Studies, University of Leicester, UK

"I am currently researching material relating to the Cultural Revolution (1966-1976) [...]"

Re:Q: Dr. Stephan v. d. Schulenburg

Curator East Asian and Islamic Art Department, Frankfurt:

Dear Amy,

until October 29th, 2006, there is an exhibition at our museum entitled "The Souvenir. Memory in Objects from the Relic to the Memento". In this show there is a section entitled "Souvenirs de l'Est" with a chapter on Mao. This includes a number of porcelain plates, textile prints, etc. as well as Mao memorial souvenirs from the 1990ies to the present day, including the latest propaganda DVDs on Mao's life and a few more or less satirical comments of contemporary Chinese artists on Mao and the revolution kitsch. A larger part of the Cultural Revolution Period exhibits was given to us as a loan by Barbara Mittler/Professor of Sinology, Heidelberg University (she works on the trauma of the cultural revolution in modern China). You may also contact Dr. Adele Schlombs/Director of the Museum of East Asian Art Cologne who has some interesting material from Cultural Revolution China. For our Frankfurt exhibition there is a catalogue (30 euro), with some remarks I wrote on the Mao issue, but all in German.

All the best

Stephan

Dr. Stephan v. d. Schulenburg

Museum fuer Angewandte Kunst

Curator East Asian and Islamic Art Department

Schaumainkai 17

D-60594 Frankfurt/Germany

phone ...49-(0)69-212-35518

fax ...49-(0)69-212-30703

stephan.schulenburg@stadt-frankfurt.de

Reference:

Q: Re: Q: Collections of Chinese Cultural Revolution. In: ArtHist.net, Jul 18, 2006 (accessed Jul 4, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/28399>>.