Dear Colleague,

We are pleased to announce the preparations for the Fourth Symposium on Cilician Archaeology which will be hosted by Research Center for Cilician Archaeology (KAAM) of Mersin University. The proposed date for the symposium will be the first week of June 2007.

The symposium, covers the topics on prehistory, near eastern archaeology, classical archaeology, ancient history, epigraphy, numismatic, Byzantine Art History and studies on Anatolian local "clientel dynasties" which display similar patterns with that of mountainous Cilicia of the said period;

. To achieve higher academic standarts, the papers limited to presenting archaeological material or descriptions of excavations will not be accepted. Papers presented should reflect the field of specialization of the presenter and should discuss original material.

. The language of the symposium will be Turkish, English and German;

. Papers presented will be published as proceedings in the offical journal of the Center (OLBA) after the approval of the selected committee of referees;

. Registration fee is 150 Euro which will cover accomodation during the symposium, lunch and transportation to and from the campus. Registration fee willl be 30 Euro for those who do not demand the service listed above. Travel expenses to and from Turkey will be the participants responsibility.

We are planning a one day excursion following the three-day symposium which will provide an opportunity for the participants to visit the ancient sites in the region.

We will welcome any suggestions for the conduct of the symposium from you. A second circular will be available as soon as we receive the information demanded in the application form which you can find in <http://kaam.mersin.edu.tr>.
