

FLUX. Art History, Cinema, Classics and Archaeology (Melbourne, Nov. 2006)

FLUX: Art History, Cinema, Classics and Archaeology
Postgraduate Conference

9–10 November 2006
University of Melbourne

The School of Art History, Cinema, Classics and Archeology's 2006 Postgraduate conference is on the subject of FLUX. With its connotations of flow and fusion, of formation, dissolution and reformulation, FLUX reflects both the interdisciplinary spirit of this year's conference and the broader status of the humanities within the Australian tertiary sector.

FLUX will feature 75 papers by postgraduates from universities across Australia and New Zealand in art history, cinema, classics, archaeology, museology and related disciplines. Additionally, there will be keynote addresses by Prof. Ronald de Leeuw (Director of the Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam) and Adrian Martin (Senior Research Fellow, Monash University Film and Television).

FLUX is a free event. All welcome.
