FOURTH ANNUAL GRADUATE STUDENT SYMPOSIUM IN NINETEENTH-CENTURY ART

The fourth annual Graduate Student Symposium in Nineteenth-Century Art will be held on Saturday, March 24, 2007, in the Huntington Room of the National Academy of Design in New York City.

The symposium is co-sponsored by the Association of Historians of Nineteenth-Century Art (AHNCA), the Dahesh Museum of Art, the National Academy of Design, the Graduate Program in Art History of the City University of New York, and the Art History Program of Seton Hall University.

Graduate students are invited to submit proposals for 20-minute papers on topics in the history of art and visual culture of the long nineteenth-century (1789-1914).

Proposals that give evidence of new scholarship and originality of approach are especially encouraged.

Please send the following materials, as e-mail attachments, to Petra Chu at Chupetra@shu.edu.

- brief c.v. (2-page maximum)
- cover sheet with name, school, title of paper, and name of faculty adviser on the proposed paper
- 2-page abstract

To be considered, proposals must be received by February 15, 2007.

Invitations to participate will be sent out by email on February 22. The 2007 symposium is held in honor of Robert Rosenblum, who attended all previous ones and always was an active participant.
