Renaissance position at UC Riverside

Patricia Morton

The Department of the History of Art at the University of California, Riverside announces a tenure-track position (Assistant Professor) for a historian of Renaissance Art and Architecture.

We seek a scholar whose work examines Renaissance art and architecture in the broad context of the early modern world and the revival of ancient precedents, addresses innovative methods and themes emerging in early modern studies, and is interdisciplinary and comparative. Duties include participation in developing a proposal for a Ph.D. program, teaching courses ranging from lower division surveys to graduate seminars, advising, and service. Related UCR departments and programs in the field include History, English, Comparative Literature, Dance, and Music.

Ph.D. required. Teaching experience, a strong commitment to teaching excellence and a promising record of research and publication are required. Send letter of application, curriculum vitae, writing sample (30 pages maximum) and three letters of recommendation to Conrad Rudolph, Chair, Renaissance Search Committee, History of Art Department, University of California Riverside, 900 University Ave., Riverside, CA 92521-0319.

Review of applications will begin December 1, 2007 and continue until the position is filled. Salary commensurate with education and experience. Position begins July 1, 2008.
