

Photo History, Ryerson Univ., Toronto

H-ArtHist (Caroline Philipp)

School of Image Arts

Deadline to Apply: Friday February 15, 2008

Ryerson University's Faculty of Communication & Design invites applications for a faculty position in the Photographic Preservation and Collections Management Program within the School of Image Arts. Teaching responsibilities will include courses in photographic history, collections management and/or curation at the graduate and undergraduate level. This appointment is a tenure track faculty position commencing July 1, 2008.

The School of Image Arts is a dynamic centre for creative learning, offering three distinct degree options - Film, Photography, and New Media. The program features a balance of theory and practice art and commercial production. There are nearly 700 full-time BFA students, approximately 40 full-and part-time faculty, and 14 staff members. In addition to the MA and PhD in Communications and Culture, the school offers an MA in Photographic Preservation and Collections Management and an MFA in Documentary Media.

The successful candidate will be an experienced educator/scholar in photographic history, theory and/or visual studies. Related professional experience as a curator and/or collections manager would be an asset. An appropriate terminal degree, or the demonstrated equivalent, is required for this position. The successful candidate will be required to develop and teach graduate and undergraduate courses, supervise graduate students, maintain an active research and/or creative practice and participate in the governance of the School of Image Arts. A proven commitment to student engagement and excellence in teaching, an appreciation for Ryerson's integration of practice and theory and evidence of the applicant's ability to attract external research funding are essential attributes.

Nominations, and applications accompanied by a curriculum vitae and the names and addresses of three referees, should be forwarded to Professor Don Snyder, Chair of the School of Image Arts, in the Faculty of Communication &

Design, Ryerson University, 350 Victoria Street, Toronto, ON, M5B 2K3, Fax:(416) 979-5139. To ensure consideration, applications should be submitted by February 15, 2008. The search will continue until the position is filled.

Ryerson University has an employment equity program and encourages applications from all qualified individuals, including Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, members of visible minorities and women. Members of designated groups are encouraged to self-identify. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.
