

Art Historian, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Dr Kate Kangaslahti

The School of Art, Design and Media, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, is seeking applicants for a full-time, tenure-track position in Art History, beginning in August 2008.

Open Rank. Ph.D. required. Competitive salary, commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas are particularly welcome: history and theory of photography; history of graphic and/or industrial design; history of contemporary art, including time-based and new media.

An individual with experience in innovative academic or creative environments, with an international focus, is preferred. The successful candidate will be expected to teach (up to three courses a semester), conduct research in his or her relevant field, as well as contribute to the development of the undergraduate and graduate programmes. The University offers substantial opportunities in terms of support and resources for academic research.

Application deadline: 15 March 2008

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, the names and addresses of three referees, and a completed Personal Particulars Form, available for download from the website of NTU's Office of Human Resources.
