

Art Historian at Bilkent University, Ankara

Dr.

The Department of Archaeology and History of Art, Bilkent University, seeks a specialist in Seljuk and Ottoman art and architecture.

Rank open. Ph.D. required. Start date September 1, 2008.

The position is full-time and renewable. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. The department offers BA and MA programs that focus on ancient and medieval Turkey, the Mediterranean basin, and the Near East. English is the language of instruction. The teaching load is normally 3 courses per semester. The candidate hired will be expected to teach, supervise research, and conduct research in Islamic art and architectural history with a specialization in Seljuk and Ottoman art and architecture. In addition, the candidate should be familiar with Byzantine art and architecture; museology; art historical methods & theory; and introductory-level art & architectural history, in order to share in the teaching of those subjects.

To apply, send cover letter, cv, names and addresses of 3 references, and writing sample(s) to:

Dr. Thomas Zimmermann

Acting Chair

Bilkent University, Faculty of Humanities and Letters

Department of Archaeology and History of Art

Bilkent

Ankara 06800, Turkey.

Application deadline: March 31, 2008.

Reference:

JOB: Art Historian at Bilkent University, Ankara. In: ArtHist.net, Feb 2, 2008 (accessed Jul 14, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/30143>>.