

DFG/NEH Joint Program in Digital Humanities

Max Voegler

DFG/NEH Bilateral Digital Humanities Program

The German Research Foundation (Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft e.V., DFG) and The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) in the United States and are working together to offer support for projects in the digital humanities.

1. 2008 Call for Joint Digitization Projects:

These grants provide funding for up to three years of development in any of the following areas: (i) new digitization projects and pilot projects, (ii) the addition of important materials to existing digitization projects and (iii) the development of related infrastructure to support international digitization work and the use of those digitized resources.

Guidelines for this call are available here:

http://www.dfg.de/forschungsfoerderung/wissenschaftliche_infrastruktur/lis/download/neh_dfg_bdhp_guidelines.pdf

The receipt deadline is 15 October 2008.

2. 2008 Call for Bilateral Symposia and Workshops: Proposals for Bilateral

Symposia or Workshops can focus on any area of the digital humanities, including, but not limited to: (i) capacity building or networking workshops to prepare for future collaborative humanities projects based around a single theme, technology, media form or scholarly discipline, (ii) comparing and discussing the needs of researchers in both the U.S. and Germany and their uses of digitized resources, and (iii) exploring possible and existing use of information technology in the humanities in both communities.

Guidelines for this call will be available in late-August.

Please contact

Dr. Max Voegler (max.voegler@dfg.de <mailto:max.voegler@dfg.de>) to receive a copy by email when they are available.

The receipt for deadlines has been extended to 2 November 2008.

Further information on the Joint Programme can be found here:

http://www.dfg.de/en/research_funding/scientific_instrumentation_and_infrastructure/scientific_library_services_and_information_systems/project_funding/international_cooperation/digitization.html

Reference:

STIP: DFG/NEH Joint Program in Digital Humanities. In: Arthist.net, Sep 2, 2008 (accessed Dec 19, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/30712>>.