

Amplonius-Research Grant

Dr. Brigitte Pfeil

AMPLONIUS RESEARCH GRANT - now open for doctoral candidates and variable up to three months.

The Catholic-Theological Faculty Erfurt announces two research grants for the summer semester 2009 in the Bibliotheca Amploniana, part of the University and Research Library Erfurt-Gotha, at Erfurt - GERMANY.

The grants will enable doctoral candidates and post doctorate scholars from Germany and abroad to do research for a period up to three months in the Amploniana in Erfurt. The research grant is 1.600 Euro per month; if the time contracted for the project is shorter the stipend will be adjusted accordingly.

Two scholars can start April 1, 2009 (summer semester); the grants are supposed to be used during the summer term. The Closing date for applications is February 28, 2009.

(Preview: Closing date for winter-semester 2009/10 (2 scholars from September 1 oder later) will presumably be July 31, 2009).

The 'Bibliotheca Amploniana' is the largest completely preserved collection of manuscripts written by a late medieval scholar. The Amploniana contains today more than 2500 manuscripts, incunabula and postincunabula from theology, law, medicine and philosophy.

For further informations on the 'Amploniana' see:

<http://www.uni-erfurt.de/amploniana/>

Further informations about the Grant in German and English:

<http://amploniana.wordpress.com/>

Reference:

STIP: Amplonius-Research Grant. In: ArtHist.net, Jan 22, 2009 (accessed May 11, 2025), <<https://arthist.net/archive/31141>>.