Contribution for reference work on American women's history

Hasia Diner

AMERICAN WOMEN'S HISTORY: AN ENCYCLOPEDIA, a five-volume reference work in American women's history, edited by Hasia R. Diner (New York University), to be published by Facts on File, is seeking a contributor for an entry covering the history of women artists in the United States. This 1000-word entry should provide a broad overview of women's participation in the visual arts from the colonial period to the present. While the project can offer only a very small, indeed token, honorarium, the encyclopedia should get wide use and will offer the public the best in American women's history scholarship.
